CHIEFS OWNER

LAMAR HUNT

As the 1980 season begins, Lamar Hunt celebrates his 21st anniversary of a dream only a few perceived. In the early part of 1959 this quiet man from Dallas, Texas, began contacting some business associates and friends for the purpose of forming a new professional football league. Later that year this group met in Chicago to begin finalizing its plans and a reporter tagged the group, "The Foolish Club."

By July of 1960 eight franchises became a reality with the opening of the AFL preseason. A new league was born and "The Foolish Club" began to earn its measure of respect.

"It was a fantastically exciting era," remembered Hunt, the league's founder and architect, 20 years later. "I suppose it would have been easier to start out as part of the NFL, but frankly it wouldn't have been near as much fun."

"The most incredible statistic about the AFL," noted Hunt, "is the stability of its ownership. If you look at the eight original teams there is today still a thread of the original ownership in all the teams except (from) the New York Jets (Titans). No other sports league has had this high a percentage of ownership stay with it through twenty seasons."

The growth of the league, its merger into the NFL and the creation of the Super Bowl have all evolved over the past 20 seasons and Hunt has played no small role in helping pro football achieve the top rank in sports.

Hunt greets his third decade in pro football as the owner of the Kansas City Chiefs looking for "good things to happen" to Kansas City's revitalized team in the eighties. "We are to the point where we can compete in the AFC West," said the Chiefs owner following the 1980 draft. "We are no longer rebuilding. The next move is tough, especially in our division. The eighties will present, I think, an exciting era again for Kansas City Football."

Hunt is a man who thrives on challenges. He worked on the AFL with fortitude and patience, a franchise move of his own team from Dallas to Kansas City, watched his team qualify for and lose to Green Bay in Super Bowl I, then saw them regroup and win Super Bowl IV against heavily favored Minnesota in the final AFL vs NFL Super Bowl matchup.

Hunt's initial venture into organized sports was as a player. He was a reserve end at Southern Methodist University. Indicative of his stature within the American Football League and the NFL is the fact that he was the first AFL figure to be enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. That honor was bestowed on Hunt in 1972 when, at the enshrinement ceremonies in Canton, Hunt's good friend Billy Sullivan of the New England Patriots described Hunt as "the architect, designer and builder of an impossible dream."

The current president of the American Football Conference of the NFL, Hunt continues to be a prominent pro football leader. He organized and coordinated the formation and development of World Championship Tennis and through WCT helped bring the sport international prominence. He formed the Dallas Tornado, one of the North American Soccer League's consistent winners, and he also is one of the founding owners of the Chicago Bulls of the NBA.

In addition to his numerous business commitments, Hunt is active as a member of the board of directors of NFL Charities and serves on the board of trustees of the National Parks Foundation.

Hunt and his wife, Norma, have four children, Lamar Jr., 24; Sharron, 22; Clark, 15; and Daniel, who will be four years old November 21.

CHIEFS PRESIDENT

With the opening of the 1980 NFL season, Kansas City Chiefs president Jack Steadman begins his third decade as the chief administrator for Lamar Hunt's pro football franchise.

Steadman joined Hunt's AFL Dallas Texans as general manager and head of the team's administrative staff in November of 1960, the initial year of the American Football League. During those 20 seasons, Steadman has witnessed and been an integral part of three league championships and two Super Bowl appearances.

JACK STEADMAN   He coordinated the franchise move in the old AFL from Dallas to Kansas City and later became one of the leading forces behind the construction and development of the Harry S Truman Sports Complex, the dual stadium facility that includes Arrowhead Stadium, the magnificent 78,000-seat home of the Chiefs and recognized as one of the finest football stadiums in the country.

Considered one of pro football's outstanding administrators, Steadman initiated the reorganization of the Chiefs in 1975 when the team changed to a very sophisticated talent and scouting program in their quest to rebuild into another Super Bowl contender. Two years ago, Steadman, along with Hunt and general manager Jim Schaaf, after very thorough evaluations and extensive searching, selected Marv Levy as the Chiefs head coach and the man to guide the team back into NFL prominence.

Steadman has been a constant administrative innovator since entering pro football and many of his ideas and developments have been duplicated throughout the NFL. Some of these creative ideas include a ticket-by-telephone system for area-wide sales, a unique seat-relocation program for season ticket holders, a reserved parking program for Arrowhead and numerous other ticket and marketing programs which have been patterned after by other NFL organizations.

Steadman joined Hunt's Dallas Texans AFL franchise midway through the initial season as general manager. Following the team's move to Kansas City in 1963, he directed an area-wide community-involved ticket drive that pushed the Chiefs old Municipal Stadium beyond its capacity by 1966. Steadman was promoted to executive vice president and general manager in 1966 and in August of 1976 was named president of the Chiefs in charge of all operations.

In addition to serving as president of the Chiefs, Steadman also is president of Hunt Midwest Enterprises, Inc., which owns Worlds of Fun, the multi-million-dollar family recreation park in the area, and Great Midwest Corp., a real estate development company. He is responsible for the future growth and expansion of all three of these Kansas City based-operations.

Actively involved within the community since arriving in Kansas City 18 years ago, Steadman is a tireless worker in many area and civic projects. He served as general chairman of the record-breaking Greater Kansas City United Way drive in 1979 and currently is on the United Way executive committee and board of directors. A member of the Civic Council of Greater Kansas City, Steadman is a member of the steering committee of the Kansas City Area Economic Development Council. He is an executive committee and board of directors member of Starlight Summer Theatre and actively serves on the board of directors at Childrens Mercy Hospital and the American Royal Association and is an advisory trustee of Research Medical Center.

Born in Aurora, Illinois, Steadman grew up in Warrenville, Illinois, and Dallas, Texas. He attended Baylor University and received his degree in business administration from Southern Methodist University. Jack and his wife, Martha, reside in Mission Hills, Kansas.

CHIEFS GENERAL MANAGER

JIM SCHAAF

Jim Schaaf, the Chiefs 42-year-old general manager, enters his 15th season with the team in a career that has covered virtually all areas of the club's operation. Schaaf joined the Chiefs in 1966 as director of public relations following five years association with the Kansas City Athletics baseball club. He was elevated to assistant general manager in January 1968 and to vice president in July, 1974.

Schaaf was named to his present position in August, 1976. Following Lamar Hunt's elevation of Jack Steadman to president, Steadman began a reorganization of the front office that resulted in Schaaf's being named vice president and general manager. In January, 1978, Steadman delegated to Schaaf full responsibility in the areas of player personnel and overall team operations. In that assignment, Schaaf works closely with head coach Marv Levy and player personnel director Les Miller and their staffs in the day-to-day responsibility of player personnel and football team areas of operation.

"Jim has all the qualities you look for in a general manager," says Steadman. "He is dedicated, aggressive, intelligent, thorough and highly motivated to succeed. I feel because of his dedication and leadership, we have begun to show substantial progress in all team-related areas of operation. Jim is becoming recognized as one of the most outstanding general managers in pro football."

Schaaf's duties in the past included supervision of Chiefs day-to-day operations and the promotion of special events. Schaaf held several front office positions with the Athletics and was their director of publicity and promotions when he joined the Chiefs.

Schaaf was born May 22, 1938 in Erie, Pennsylvania. He attended Cathedral Preparatory School in Erie, then moved to Notre Dame, where he earned a bachelor's degree in economics. He played three years of football for the Fighting Irish, two as a starter, at guard from 1956-58. He and his wife, Julie, have two children, Jill Marie, 16, and James, 12. The family lives in Overland Park.

CHIEFS HEAD COACH

MARV LEVY

Perhaps the best testimony to the improvement of the Kansas City Chiefs under Marv Levy comes in these words from the head coach himself:

"If you would have asked me two years ago where we need to improve, I would have said everywhere. Now I think we've strengthened ourselves in enough areas where we can begin to pinpoint exactly where we need to continue to work in order to strengthen ourselves rather than just say everywhere."

The 52-year-old Levy begins his third year as Kansas City's head man. The 7-9 record his Chiefs compiled a season ago was the best finish since the 7-5-2 of 1973, but Levy says the job is far from finished. "It's difficult to be satisfied with a season when you don't win most of the time. But I think we've made good progress. The confidence of our players has increased and their grasp of what we are trying to do is better." Upward movement has characterized Levy's tenure with the Chiefs. His first squad finished 4-12, then achieved three more victories in 1979 over the previous year.

"I think we'll be a better team this season, but so will the other teams in our division," Levy says. "It's going to be tough, as usual. But we don't have as many unanswered questions as we've had in the past."

Marvin Daniel Levy came to the Chiefs by way of the Canadian Football League, but he was by no means a stranger to NFL circles when he was named head coach (only the fourth in club history) on December 20, 1977. From 1973 through 1977, Levy was head coach of the CFL Montreal Alouettes and it was his spectacular success north of the border that made him a head coaching candidate in the NFL.

Counting postseason play in which the Alouettes won the CFL Grey Cup two times in Levy's five years, his record stood at 50-34-4. The Alouettes made the CFL playoffs each of Levy's five seasons, played for the Grey Cup three times and, in 1977, Montreal recorded its best-ever regular season record, 11 victories and five defeats. The Als finished the year with a runaway 41-6 rout of Edmonton.

Marv began his professional coaching career in 1969 with the Philadelphia Eagles as kicking teams coach. He joined George Allen's Los Angeles Rams staff in 1970, then moved with Allen to the Washington Redskins the following year. Levy remained with the Redskins through the 1972 season. With a great emphasis on the Levy-coached special teams, Washington won the 1972 NFC championship, 26-3 over the Dallas Cowboys, then met Miami in Super Bowl VII. Levy moved to Montreal in 1973. His first Alouette squad reached the finals of the CFL's Eastern Division, then won the Grey Cup the following year.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where he was an outstanding running back, Levy also holds a master's degree in English history from Harvard. His coaching career got underway at Coe from 1953 through 1955. He joined the New Mexico staff in 1956 and was New Mexico's head coach in 1958-59. After receiving Skyline Conference coach of the year honors both those seasons, Levy took over at California in 1960, coaching the Golden Bears through the 1963 season. One of Levy's players at the time was All-America quarterback Craig Morton. His next coaching assignment was at William and Mary, where he stayed five years. Levy was named Southern Conference coach of the year in 1964 and '65.

Having spent considerable time around George Allen, who recommended him highly for the Chiefs post, Levy knows the importance of a strong defense and quality kicking teams. They were the first two areas he sought to strengthen after coming to Kansas City. Now he's turned his attention to the club's offense. "That's one way we can help our defense, by helping the offense," he points out. "We must strengthen our offense, not just the personnel on the unit, but our whole offense in general. You still win consistently with a great defense. That's the prime ingredient. I feel that you need great balance on offense. It has been our approach to produce a tough, hard running game and that will continue to be our primary emphasis on offense."

"We have a ways to go yet. We've made some of the changes we felt needed to be made in order to speed our improvement and they were visible at times last season. With the young players we have returning, some of the key people obtained in the draft, and the top free agents we were able to sign during the off-season, I think the Chiefs have the ability to compete with anyone in the National League. It's a challenge I'm looking forward to this season."

Levy is married to the former Dorothy Prout, whom he met when both were students at Coe. They make their home in Overland Park.

RON WALLER, Director of Pro Personnel

The daily task of keeping tabs on the various personnel movements around the NFL is the responsibility of Ron Waller, who joined the club in 1978. Waller additionally serves as the club's future game scout, analyzing upcoming Kansas City opponents on a weekly basis. His intimate knowledge of the various semi-professional leagues around the country has resulted in several free agent signings for the Chiefs. One of note was punter Bob Grupp, whom Waller signed a year ago after Grupp had missed making the New York Jets twice.

A native of Hastings, Fla., Waller has had NFL coaching experience with the San Diego Chargers. He served as head coach the latter half of the 1973 season after opening the campaign as an assistant under Harland Svare. Waller was head coach of the WFL Philadelphia Bell in 1974-75. In 1976, Waller was an assistant coach in the last College All-Star Game, an aide to former Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian.

Waller played collegiately at Maryland, graduating with a degree in government and politics. He was a member of Maryland's 1953 national championship squad and earned All-America honors as a senior in '54. The Los Angeles Rams made him a second round draft pick in 1955, and Waller played four seasons, earning a Pro Bowl selection in 1956. Prior to going to the Rams, Waller's College All-Star team defeated the defending NFL champion Cleveland Browns. His playing career ended in 1960 with the Los Angeles Chargers of the AFL.

He's had extensive coaching experience in the semipro football ranks, serving as head coach of the Atlantic Coast Football League Wilmington Clippers and Harrisburg Capitals from 1966-68. In '69, Waller directed the ACFL Pottstown Firebirds. He made contact that year with Marv Levy, then an assistant at Philadelphia. Pottstown won the league championship in both 1969 and '70; in '71, Waller won the ACFL crown with Norfolk prior to going with the Chargers. The 47-year-old Waller makes his home in Lakewood.

ROD RUST, Defensive Coordinator

A longtime friend of Marv Levy, Rod Rust was the first appointee to Levy's coaching staff in 1978. He came to Kansas City from the Philadelphia Eagles staff, where he worked the 1976-77 seasons under Dick Vermeil with the linebackers and front seven.

"As defensive coordinator, Rod has been responsible for what I believe has been a noticeable improvement in our defense each of the two years we've been here," says Levy. The 52-year-old Rust, a native of Webster City, Iowa, has coached with and against Levy in the past. Prior to joining the Eagles coaching staff, Rust spent three seasons, 1973-75, as defensive coordinator for Levy's Montreal Alouettes.

A center and linebacker at Iowa State, Rust completed a two-year tour of duty with the U.S. Army in the Far East before embarking on his coaching career. His first collegiate experience was at the University of New Mexico as an assistant in 1960. He moved on to Stanford in 1963 where he was defensive coordinator under John Ralston through 1966. Levy, meanwhile, was across town as head coach of the California Bears for part of Rust's stint at Stanford.

In 1967, Rust was named head coach at North Texas State. During his six years there, he helped develop several outstanding defensive linemen, including all-pros Joe Greene of the Pittsburgh Steelers and Cedrick Hardman, formerly of San Francisco and now with Oakland.

Rod is the father of two sons, Jeff, 27; and Greg, 24. He makes his home in North Kansas City.

DICK ROACH, Defensive Backfield Coach

When Marv Levy left Canada to become head coach of the Chiefs, he brought with him Dick Roach as defensive backfield coach. The 47-year-old Roach was Levy's defensive coordinator at Montreal in 1976-77 and the Alouettes were recognized as the finest CFL defensive team at that time. Enroute to the Grey Cup championship in 1977, the Montreal defense led the league in interceptions (32) and fewest points allowed (245 in 16 games) while finishing second in overall total defense. During Montreal's 41-6 rout of Edmonton in the '77 title game, the Als permitted only nine first downs and 102 net yards, both championship game records.

Roach's backfield unit took on the look of a youthful, yet solidly experienced, group in 1979. For 1980, Roach looks for continued improvement with the possible addition of some new personnel. "Dick is an outstanding fundamentalist, and he's also a fine teacher as well," Levy says. "We made good improvement in the secondary last year over the season before, and much of the credit should go to Dick," he continued.

A native of Rapid City, South Dakota, Roach graduated from Black Hills State University in Spearfish, S.D. He played and started four years, captained the squad and earned all-conference and Little All-America recognition. Roach also holds a master's degree from Wyoming.

After high school coaching jobs in South Dakota and Idaho, Roach worked under Jim Sweeney as defensive line and linebacker coach at Montana State from 1966-69. In that time, the Bobcats won three Big Sky championships. He coached Oregon State's defensive line in 1970, then became defensive coordinator at Wyoming for 1971-72. Dick was defensive coordinator at Fresno State in 1973, then coached the defensive line and linebackers at Washington State in 1974-75 before joining Levy in Montreal.

Dick's brother, Paul, is also a veteran NFL assistant and currently coaches the offensive backs at Denver.

Dick and wife Laverne have two sons, E.T., 20; Matt, 18; and a daughter, Stacy Ann, 16. The family lives in Independence.

WALT COREY, Defensive Line Coach

A former Chiefs player, Walt Corey is in his second tour of duty with the coaching staff. Corey returned to Arrowhead with Marv Levy in 1978 with a new assignment, that of coaching the defensive line. Corey's previous NFL playing and coaching experience had been with linebackers.

Corey played linebacker with the Dallas Texans and Chiefs from the American Football League's inception in 1960 through the 1966 season. He entered the collegiate coaching ranks in 1967 at Utah State, then returned to Miami (Fla.), his alma mater, in 1970. Walt worked under Hank Stram as linebacker coach for four years, 1971-74, then spent the next three seasons on the Cleveland Browns coaching staff prior to his return to Kansas City.

"Walt has done a very fine job in the two years he's had our defensive line," said Levy. "The players have responded well to his instruction and methods. It's one of the strong points of our team."

A devoted weight training enthusiast, Corey handled those responsibilities in the past with the Chiefs. It was a personal training program that allowed Corey his chance to play pro football. He built himself up to 235 pounds, from a 180-pound defensive end, to win a tryout with the Texans. He instituted the Chiefs first weight training conditioning program in 1964 as an active player.

Walt and his wife, Jane, are the parents of three children and make their home in Raytown.

BOBBY ROSS, Offensive Backfield Coach

Following two seasons as the club's kicking teams coach, when the Chiefs ranked at or near the top in nearly every statistical category, Bobby Ross graduates to offensive backfield responsibilities in 1980. "With the departure of Tom Pagna from our staff to private business, we knew we needed a bright, imaginative individual to head up our running game," said Levy. "I felt we had someone with those capabilities in Bobby."

The 43-year-old Ross, a former head coach at The Citadel, has worked with Marv Levy in the Past. He was an assistant on Levy's William and Mary staff. "Bobby's job on the kicking teams was outstanding. I hope the esprit de corps he had with the kicking teams carries over to his new assignment."

A graduate of Virginia Military Institute, Ross coached on the high school level in Virginia before landing an assistant's position at his alma mater in 1965-66.

In 1967, he joined Levy and worked two years under the Chiefs head coach, then two more years at William and Mary after Levy left to join the Philadelphia Eagles. Ross departed William and Mary in 1970 for Rice. He was with the Owls for one year before moving to Jerry Claiborne's Maryland staff in 1972. He was named head coach at The Citadel in December of that year and had a combined 24-31 record in five years at the school.

Bobby and his wife, Alice, have five children. Chris, 18, a former quarterback at Raytown South High School, recently received an appointment to the Air Force Academy. Mary Catherine, the next oldest, is 16, followed by Teresa, 15; Kevin, 14; and Robbie, 6. The family lives in Raytown.

KAY DALTON, Receivers Coach

Kay Dalton's passing game philosophies have been built around a decade of coaching experience in both the NFL and CFL. The 48-year-old Dalton, a native of Moab, Utah, served previous NFL tenures with the Denver Broncos and Buffalo Bills. Dalton coached the Broncos receivers for John Ralston from 1974-76, then spent 1977 at Buffalo prior to joining Marv Levy in Kansas City. "I've known Kay for twenty years," says Levy, "and he's going to help our pass offense considerably. He's worked very closely with our young quarterbacks and I believe that as a result of his patience and determination, we're going to be a better offensive football team this year."

Dalton came to the Chiefs on the heels of a strong passing performance by the '77 Bills. While in charge of the Buffalo passing game, his charges led the AFC in passing offense with the most net yards and highest per-game average.

Dalton's and Levy's coaching roots both go back to Montreal and the CFL. Kay's first professional assignment came in 1966 at Montreal and he became head coach the following year. He worked three years as the Alouettes head man, through 1969, before becoming offensive coordinator of the British Columbia Lions in 1970.

A college player at Colorado State, Dalton went to cross-state Colorado as an assistant to Eddie Crowder for two years, 1971-72, before going to the Broncos. He spent 1973 in the scouting department before moving to the coaching staff. Dalton's head coaching experience on the college level includes stints at Trinidad State Junior College from 1958-60 and Western State College from 1961-65.

Dalton, wife Mary Jane and daughter Meredith live in Lee's Summit.

JOE SPENCER, Offensive Line Coach

Joe Spencer's football experience covers the past three decades and he opens his sixth Kansas City season in a coaching career that has taken him through the collegiate, CFL and NFL ranks.

A native of Oklahoma City, Spencer has coached 14 years in the AFL/NFL, all with offensive lines. He spent five years, 1961-65, with the Houston Oilers, three with the New York Jets, 1968-70, and one year, 1971, with the St. Louis Cardinals. Spencer coached the Jets front line that protected Joe Namath in their Super Bowl III upset of the Baltimore Colts.

Spencer was the lone assistant retained by Levy when he took over as head coach in 1978. "Joe's knowledge of interior line play, and his ability to convey it to the men in his unit, have been most valuable for us," said Levy. "Considering the number of injuries in the offensive line last year, Joe did as good a job as he possibly could under the circumstances. Hopefully, the injury factor won't be as great in his area as it was last season."

Spencer coached two years, 1966-67, with the CFL Edmonton Eskimos before returning to the U.S. and the Jets. He was with Kansas University in 1972-73 and the WFL Chicago Fire in '74 before joining the Chiefs.

He was the head coach at Austin (Tex.) College from 1952-60. A tackle on both offense and defense at Oklahoma State from 1942-47, Spencer played five years with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the All-America Football Conference. He finished his playing career with the NFL Cleveland Browns and Green Bay Packers.

Joe and his wife, Betty Jo, have a son, Jeff, 31; and a daughter, Sara, 29. The Spencers live in Kansas City.

DON LAWRENCE, Kicking Teams Coach

The newest member of the Chiefs coaching staff is Don Lawrence, hired by Marv Levy this past January to succeed Bobby Ross with the kicking teams. A native of Cleveland, Lawrence came to the Chiefs from the CFL British Columbia Lions, where he'd spent the previous two seasons in charge of the defensive line and linebackers.

Lawrence's coaching career also includes a pair of stops at Big Eight schools. He was with Kansas State in 1964-65 and spent two years, 1976-77, under Al Onofrio at Missouri.

Don was head coach at Virginia from 1971-73, compiling an 11-22 record. He moved to Texas Christian University in 1974-75 before departing TCU for Missouri. A three-year letterman at Notre Dame from 1956-58, Lawrence was a sixth round draft choice of the Washington Redskins in 1959. He played guard and defensive tackle in the NFL through 1961 before embarking on his college coaching career, beginning at his alma mater.

WAYNE RUDY, Head Trainer

Wayne Rudy, the Chiefs popular head trainer, has been with the team ever since the formation of the American Football League in 1960. Recognized nationally as one of the foremost in his field, Wayne opens his 21st season with the Texans/Chiefs. He's the only person in the organization who's seen every game, preseason, regular season and playoff, that the Chiefs have ever been involved in.

Rudy has served athletic teams over the past 35 years. A graduate of Bowling Green University, he was inducted into his alma mater's Hall of Fame in 1975. He also holds a master's degree from Southern Methodist University. Rudy was the SMU trainer for 13 years (1947-59) before signing on with the Dallas Texans. One of the athletes he served while at SMU was a seldom-used end named Lamar Hunt, who brought Rudy into pro football upon formation of his new team and league.

Wayne was one of the founders of the Southwest Athletic Trainers Association and has twice been a national director of the National Athletic Trainers Association. He has received countless awards in the athletic training field and in 1974 was named to the Helms Athletic Hall of Fame.

Wayne and his wife, Joan, live in Overland Park.

Assisting Rudy again this season is DAVE KENDALL, now in his sixth year. Kendall graduated from Kansas State College at Pittsburg with a degree in physical education. He served as assistant trainer at Pittsburg State. Kendall is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association. Dave and wife Jackie live in Blue Springs. Dave's father-in-law, Jack Christiansen, is an assistant coach with the Seattle Seahawks.

BOBBY YARBOROUGH, Equipment Manager

Bobby Yarborough has been the Chiefs equipment manager the past 20 years. He attended the University of Texas where as student trainer his interest in behind-the-scenes athletics was developed by his association with longtime Longhorns trainer Frank Medina.

Bobby is a member of the board of directors and a member of the organizing committee of the Athletic Equipment Managers Association. He has served in the past as convention chairman for that group's annual meeting when it has been held in Kansas City.

Yarborough also served previously as organizer and director of a Chiefs off-season basketball team that helped raise over a half million dollars for charities throughout the Midwest.

PLAYER PERSONNEL STAFF

LES MILLER

Kansas City's procurement of players, via the draft, waiver and free agent route, is the responsibility of player personnel director Les Miller and his four-man staff. Miller, who's directed the last five Chiefs drafts, came to the club after serving three seasons under current Washington general manager Bobby Beathard on the Miami Dolphins scouting staff. In addition to his four full-time scouts, Miller also receives information from the BLESTO scouting combine, which the Chiefs joined in 1975.

The 43-year-old Miller is a native of Bernice, Oklahoma. He attended Oklahoma State University, then graduated from Kansas State College at Pittsburg with an education degree in 1958. For the next 13 years, Les coached at the high school and college level. He was the head football, basketball and baseball coach at Afton (Okla.) High School from 1958-60 and then coached baseball and football at two Tulsa high schools before accepting a position in private business.

Miller returned to coaching in 1967 as head football coach at Joplin (Mo.) High School. After two seasons, he was named an assistant coach at Brigham Young University in charge of offensive backs until the Dolphins named him to their scouting staff in 1972.

An avid baseball fan, Miller spent two seasons, 1954-55, as a third baseman and outfielder in the New York Yankees farm system.

Les and his wife Joyce are the parents of four children, Mike 24; Debbie, 22; Marty, 11; and Matt, 8. They make their home in Overland Park.

TOMMY O'BOYLE   J. D. HELM   BOBBY GILL   OTIS TAYLOR

The player personnel staff is comprised of Tommy O'Boyle, J.D. Helm and Bobby Gill, all in their sixth season with Miller, plus Otis Taylor, who's beginning his third year.

O'Boyle has been with the Chiefs since 1966. He served on Hank Stram's staff as both an assistant coach and talent scout through 1974, then returned to the club solely in the personnel field. The number one draft choice of the Chicago Bears in 1940, O'Boyle was head coach at Tulane from 1962 through 1965. Tommy and wife Rosemary live in Kansas City.

Helm, a Kansas graduate, coached two years at Shawnee Mission East High School before going to Brigham Young as offensive backfield coach in 1968. He remained at BYU through 1974. J. D. and wife Elizabeth reside in Overland Park.

Gill attended Baylor and coached at several schools in the Southwest. He began his coaching career at Ouachita Baptist with stints at Houston, Tulsa, New Mexico State and Texas El Paso prior to joining the Chiefs. Bobby and wife Barbara, the women's basketball coach at Johnson County Community College, live in Overland Park.

Taylor, the Chiefs fourth round draft choice in 1965, joined the personnel department in 1978. The former Prairie View All-America is Kansas City's alltime leading receiver with 410 receptions in 10 seasons. Taylor also holds Chiefs records for most career touchdowns (60) and most career pass receiving yardage (7,306). Otis lives in Kansas City.

Fuller made his NFL debut in the second week of the regular season, and before 1979 was out, he'd quarterbacked the Chiefs to victory in six of the 12 games he started . . . His first game action came vs. Cleveland as he inherited a 20-0 deficit . . . But in the space of 16 minutes in the second half, Fuller rallied the Chiefs from 20 points down to a 24-20 lead, only for Cleveland to win the contest by three in the final seconds . . . From then on, Fuller began to establish himself as the team's quarterback of the future . . . He was drafted by Kansas City as a result of a draft-day transaction with Houston in which the Chiefs obtained the Oilers 1979 No. 1 pick in exchange for Kansas City's No. 2 choice in both 1979 and 1980 . . . Among Fuller's first-season passing highlights were a 15-of-26, 170-yard, one touchdown effort vs. San Diego and an 11-of-15, 122-yard outing in a Chiefs win at Oakland . . . He finished 14th among AFC passers, but Marv Levy believes he'll improve that standing as he becomes more familiar with the club's offense and as the Chiefs pass more than they did last year . . . Had six touchdown passes and 14 interceptions for the year, but four of the errant throws came in his initial start at Houston . . . In addition to his throwing, Fuller proved dangerous as a runner as well . . . He turned in a 49-yard scramble vs. Seattle and ended up as the club's third leading rusher with 264 yards . . . Undoubtedly the Cinderella story of the 1979 NFL season ... Last July, Grupp reported to the Chiefs training camp in a third attempt to make a club ... The New York Jets, who drafted him on the seventh round in 1977, had released him the two previous years, first as a combination punter/defensive back, then strictly as a punter ... Grupp battled incumbent Zenon Andrusyshyn, winning the job after several good efforts in the preseason ... One was a 67-yard boot vs. Philadelphia that was muffed by the Eagles and resulted in a Chiefs touchdown ... Appearing in his initial regular season game, Grupp wasted no time etching his name in the Chiefs record book ... He punted a record 11 times vs. Baltimore for 511 yards and a 46.4 average ... That shot him to the NFL punting lead, a position he did not relinquish over the following 15 weeks ... In addition to his league-leading 43.6 gross punting average, Grupp's placement, height and distance helped his team capture the net punting title as well with a 37.2-yard figure ... Among the highlights of his rags-to-riches campaign were a club record 74-yard punt vs. San Diego and a 50-yard average on five punts at Denver ... His 89 punts also were a new seasonal club record and he had kicks of 56 yards or longer on nine separate occasions ... Grupp credits his transformation from a three-step punter to two steps as a major factor in his making the grade after two misses ... He learned the two-step technique from retired punter Ray Pelfrey and Grupp spent several weeks at his own expense visiting Pelfrey in Nevada to perfect it prior to reporting to the Chiefs ... The final chapter in Grupp's story was his nomination to the AFC Pro Bowl squad; he became the first Chiefs player to be so honored since Jack Rudnay appeared in the 1977 contest (1976 season) ... Not only did Grupp break a six-year Ray Guy hold on the AFC Pro Bowl punting job, it was the first time in the Oakland punter's career he had not gone on to the postseason all-star game ... Grupp was an overwhelming winner of the team's Mack Lee Hill Award as the outstanding first-year player ... He was a first-team selection on the Pro Football Weekly all-pro team and was that publication's choice for its "Golden Toe" award, presented to the top kicking specialist each year ... Grupp was The Sporting News choice as the AFC's all-pro punter ... Newspaper Enterprise Assn. and the Pro Football Writers of America both named him to their all-NFL squads ... Grupp was a second team all-NFL choice by Associated Press and United Press International named him to its all-rookie and all-AFC squad ... After his first release by the Jets, Grupp played briefly with Calgary of the CFL before a shoulder injury curtailed his 1977 season ... He was a two-time all-Atlantic Coast Conference selection at Duke and finished college with a 40.4 career punting average ... Also played baseball and was most valuable player on the Blue Devils '76 squad ... A six-time participant in Punt, Pass and Kick competition; punts right-footed ... Worked in real estate in the time he was between jobs, and spent this past off-season in that capacity in the Philadelphia area ... A graduate of Neshaminy H.S. in Langhorne, Pa., which also produced kickers Chris (Cincinnati) and Matt (Pittsburgh) Bahr ... Full name: Robert William Grupp ... Single.

The four-year veteran has been consistent in his receiving totals, with a high of 28 his rookie year and only a slight drop to 21 last year . . . But getting the football into Marshall's hands will again be a primary objective in the club's passing plans . . . Leading the Chiefs in both rushing yards and carries, McKnight more than exceeded his first two seasons totals ... His 755 rushing yards ranked 11th in the AFC and 20th overall in the NFL ... His 4.9 average per carry was exceeded only by Chuck Muncie of New Orleans (5.0) and equaled by Cleveland's Mike Pruitt and the New York Jets Clark Gaines ... McKnight set a club record in establishing the longest run from scrimmage in the league last year, an 84-yard touchdown run that broke the old Chiefs record of 80, shared by Abner Haynes and Warren McVea ... He also had a 70-yard scoring burst against Baltimore in the season opener that helped push Kansas City to a 14-0 victory ... Seven of McKnight's club-leading eight rushing touchdowns came at the expense of Baltimore and Seattle; his touchdown at Baltimore made the difference in a 10-7 Chiefs win ... He had two scores at Seattle in his biggest rushing day of the year, 12 carries for 147 yards that included the 84-yard jaunt ... In the Seahawks rematch at Arrowhead, McKnight rushed for 54 yards and two more touchdowns in Kansas City's 37-21 victory ... Other runs of 30 yards or more came against Baltimore (59), at Houston (35), and at Oakland (33) ... He appeared in 15 of 16 games, missing the Pittsburgh contest due to a sprained toe ... McKnight also led the club in receiving, catching 38 for 226 yards and a 6.0 average ... His top receiving day came at Denver, seven for 27 yards ... McKnight has two 100-yard games to his credit, 104 yards on 11 carries vs. San Diego in 1978 and the 12-carry, 147-yard output at Seattle last year; he just missed on a third century effort, gaining 97 yards on 14 carries at Baltimore late in the season ... He's also been utilized on kickoff returns each of the last three years and his 70-yard return as a rookie is the longest since Noland Smith's club record 106-yard touchdown in 1967 ... The Chiefs obtained McKnight on waivers from Oakland in 1977 ... He'd been a second round draft choice of the Raiders, who let him go shortly before the start of the regular season ... McKnight was the top rusher in Minnesota-Duluth history with 2,963 yards in four seasons ... He was the NCAA Division II rushing leader in 1976 with 1,482 yards on 220 carries and 22 touchdowns ... Also led Division II scorers with 144 points ... Interested in theatre and film work and is the Chiefs representative on this year's United Way message ... Getty moved from right to left to fill Herkenhoff's slot . . . Nicholson had entered the 1979 season after playing in only six games the previous year . . . He suffered a knee injury that did not require surgery, but which did place him on injured reserve for the final 10 games of the season . . . missed during his career . . . Prior to the injury, he'd started 32 of the previous 34 contests . . . He appeared in 15 of 16 games last year, starting 10 . . . A healthy Tony Reed—something he wasn't for portions of last year—would go a long way toward improving the Chiefs offensive fortunes . . . When Reed plays a full season, as he did in 1978, outstanding efforts have resulted, evidenced by his 1,053 yards rushing on 206 carries . . . That was the best individual rushing performance by a Chief in over a decade . . . Strained knee ligaments suffered vs. Pittsburgh in Week 11 forced Reed to miss the last five games of 1979; thus he finished the year with his lowest number of carries and yards in three NFL seasons . . . The knee damage was rectified without surgery, and Reed is ready to resume his position as one of the league's top ballcarriers . . . His best '79 showing came against the New York Giants, 106 yards on 20 carries . . . In that game, Reed had a unique "double" as he caught eight passes for 103 additional yards; the last AFC back to accomplish the feat had been Cleveland's Greg Pruitt in 1975 . . . Scored one touchdown last year, a 9-yard run vs. Cleveland, to give him 10 for his brief career ... Reed needs only 557 yards to move past Wendell Hayes into fifth place on the Chiefs alltime list ... Finished second to Ted McKnight in both rushing and pass receiving after leading in both categories in '78 ... Reed's 1,053 yards rushing rank second in Chiefs annals behind Mike Garrett's 1,087 in 1967 ... His 206 carries in '78 rank fourth alltime ... Reed now has five 100-yard games to his credit ... Directly in front of him are Garrett with seven and Ed Podolak with eight ... Prior to his injury last year, Reed had opened in each of the previous 27 games, 16 in 1978 and 11 last year; he started in eight of 14 games as a rookie ... Reed's two consecutive 100-yard outings in 1978 (16 carries, 141 yards vs. Houston; 14 carries, 114 yards at N.Y. Giants) marked only the second time in club history that feat has been achieved; Garrett was the first to do so in '67 ... Reed graduated to regular backfield duty as a sophomore after sharing the running back slot with the now-retired Podolak as a rookie ... In part-time 1977 duty, Reed carried for 505 yards ... Reed came to the Chiefs on a second round selection in '77 draft ... He was the third running back taken, behind Tampa Bay's Ricky Bell and Dallas's Tony Dorsett, who went one-two in the opening round ... Reed finished second in Big Eight 1976 rushing (to Terry Miller, now with Buffalo) with 264 carries for 1,210 yards, 4.6 average and five touchdowns ... Earned all-Big Eight recognition from both Associated Press and United Press International and was named to AP's second team All-America squad ... Rushed for 100 or more yards nine times in his CU career ... Played in two bowl games with the Buffaloes, 1976 Bluebonnet Bowl vs. Texas and 1977 Orange Bowl vs. Ohio State ... Reed transferred to Colorado from Antelope Valley (Calif.) Junior College ... In '74, he was first team JC All-America, rushing for 1,814 yards and 22 touchdowns for 11-0 squad that won California's junior college championship ... Has lived in several areas around the world and attended Chofu H.S. in Tokyo, Japan, where his father was stationed with the U.S. Air Force ... Received no scholarship offers out of high school, so enrolled at Antelope Valley ... Majored in business ... Full name: Anthony Wayne Reed ... Married, wife Jackie, two children.

Reese won the starting strong safety position as a free agent, but suffered the misfortune of a knee injury that required midseason surgery ... Up until the mishap, Reese had played with distinction, teaming with Gary Barbaro at safety ... Like several other Chiefs, Reese finally made a club after more than one attempt ... He was a free agent at Denver in 1978, was released, then signed with Kansas City after that season ... Reese battled a lengthy list of free agent candidates like himself, along with incumbent Tim Gray, for the strong safety job . . .

Following an impressive preseason during which he led the club in interceptions with three, Reese wrested the starter's role away from Gray, who was traded to San Francisco . . . He appeared in the opening seven games of the year and was injured against his old teammates, Denver . . . College: Northwestern
NFL Experience: 11
Birthdate: November 20, 1947
Birthplace: Cleveland, Ohio
Residence: Lee's Summit, Missouri

The senior statesman on the Chiefs offensive line, Rudnay has established a record of consistency and durability matched in few corners ... He is now third on the club longevity list, playing in each of the last 144 regular season games ... That's every game over his first 10 seasons and Rudnay has only missed one start in nine campaigns ... That came in 1976, though he later played in the game to keep his string intact of never missing a game thus far ... Has played with a variety of injuries, several major ... Snapped the majority of one game with a fractured hand, then continued to play in subsequent weeks with aid of a brace ... Ironically, his career began on an injury note ... He suffered a back injury in the 1969 College All-Star camp and missed the Chiefs Super Bowl season as a result ... Rudnay replaced E.J. Holub as the starting center midway in 1970 and won the Mack Lee Hill Award that year ... The Chiefs have never drafted a center higher than they did Rudnay, who played both center and defensive tackle in college ... The Chiefs record section received several revisions thanks to Smith, whose kick return capabilities added a second dimension to his receiving talents ... He was third on the club in receptions and first among wide receivers ... But it was his work in the punt return area that kept opponents on their heels ... Doing all of the Chiefs punt return work, Smith finished second among AFC specialists and third in the NFL with a 10.6 average ... His 612 return yards led the league, his 58 returns paced the AFC and no one except Smith had more than one punt return touchdown ... The first was a 55-yard effort at Houston ... One week later, Smith took a Ray Guy punt and sailed 88 yards to a touchdown, longest in the NFL, and breaking the old Kansas City record of 80 held by Noland Smith since 1968 . . . Smith also set new club records for most returns in a season (58), most yards (612) . . . Those figures, in only one season, moved him into third place for career returns (behind Ed Podolak and Larry Brunson) and second to Podolak (739) in career yardage . . . Smith is the only Chief in club history to handle all the return duties in a single season . . . Smith's initial touchdown at Houston was the first punt return score for the Chiefs since '68 . . . THE LAST ... AND THE FIRST

The Chiefs have had two homes during their tenure in Kansas City. The first was Municipal Stadium downtown, the club's home from 1963 through 1971. The last Chiefs game played there was the longest game in pro football history, Miami's 27-24 win over Kansas City in six quarters during the opening round of the 1971 playoffs. Arrowhead opened in 1972 and the Chiefs were victorious in the first contest played there, a 24-14 preseason triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

CHIEFS CHAMPIONSHIP REVIEW

1962 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME
DALLAS at HOUSTON
December 23, 1962

A contest that moved the infant American Football League into the national consciousness proved to be the first of three AFL titles for Hank Stram's Texans/Chiefs.

Following second place finishes in each of the league's first two seasons, the Texans ran away with the AFL West championship in 1962. Dallas finished 11-3, a full four games in front, and was matched with the Houston Oilers, also 11-3, who had won the AFL title in 1960 and '61 over the Los Angeles, then San Diego Chargers.

The Texans, paced by a pair of touchdowns from Abner Haynes, took a 17-0 halftime advantage. Haynes scored first on a 28-yard pass from Len Dawson and then on a two-yard run after Tommy Brooker had given Dallas a 3-0 first-quarter advantage with a 16-yard field goal.

But the momentum quickly shifted to the Oilers in the second half. George Blanda, then a "young" 35-year-old, passed 15 yards to Willard Dewveall for a touchdown and kicked a 31-yard field goal before Charley Tolar burst over from the one to tie the game at 17-17 in the fourth quarter.

The two teams then went into the first sudden death overtime in AFL annals. The Texans won the toss and Stram elected to kick off, maintaining his defense could hold the Oilers long enough for Dawson to get the ball in good field position. Herein came the famous "kick to the clock" episode in which Texans captain Haynes inadvertently elected for his team to kick into the wind instead of having it as the consolation for not receiving the football.

Neither club mounted a serious challenge in the early stages of overtime, but as the fifth quarter was drawing to a close, Dallas defensive end Bill Hull intercepted a Blanda pass and returned to midfield. Dawson then passed to Jack Spikes for 10 yards, Spikes, the game's most valuable player, ran for 19 and the Texans were in field goal range. At the 2:54 mark of the sixth quarter, Brooker kicked a 25-yard field goal to give the Texans a 20-17 victory and the American Football League championship. The game lasted 77 minutes and 54 seconds and would be the longest in pro football history until the Chiefs and Miami Dolphins played over 82 minutes nearly a decade later in 1971.

KANSAS CITY at BUFFALO
January 1, 1967

With a berth in Super Bowl I as the prize, the Chiefs visited ancient War Memorial Stadium for a New Year's Day clash with the defending AFL champion Buffalo Bills.

The game, played in frigid, subzero temperatures, produced its first break on the opening kickoff. Jerrel Wilson recovered a Bills fumble on the Buffalo 31-yard line. Three plays later, Len Dawson passed 29 yards to Fred Arbanas for the first touchdown and a 7-0 Kansas City lead.

Buffalo, though, tied the game near the end of the opening period when Jack Kemp hit Elbert Dubenion on a 69-yard pass play. Few thought it would be the Bills final score of the day.

The Chiefs defense stiffened and Dawson led the offense to 10 second-quarter points. Otis Taylor caught a 29-yard touchdown pass and Mike Mercer added a 32-yard field goal, aided by a 72-yard pass interception by Johnny Robinson.

Mike Garrett then applied the coup de grace for the Chiefs by scoring on runs of one and 18 yards. Kansas City won its second AFL title in four years and awaited the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl I.

SUPER BOWL I
KANSAS CITY vs GREEN BAY
January 15, 1967

Representing themselves and the American Football League in the first championship match with the National Football League, the Chiefs played well for one half before bowing to the supremacy of the Green Bay Packers.

Vince Lombardi's Packers, one of the great pro football teams of all time, won Super Bowl I by a 35-10 score. But the Packers held a slim 14-10 advantage at the half before the game turned on one play in the third quarter.

Green Bay opened the scoring when Bart Starr passed 37 yards to Max McGee, McGee making a remarkable one-handed catch for the touchdown. Len Dawson tied the game for the Chiefs when he passed to Curtis McClinton for a second period touchdown. The Packers then went back on top, 14-7, before Mike Mercer kicked a 31-yard field goal just before the half ended.

The Chiefs momentum carried over into the third quarter as Kansas City moved to a first down on its initial possession. But then the game's key play, one that doomed the underdog Chiefs, unfolded when Willie Wood intercepted a Dawson pass intended for Fred Arbanas at midfield. Wood returned all the way to the Chiefs 5-yard line, where Elijah Pitts ran for a third Green Bay touchdown and an insurmountable 21-10 lead.

KANSAS CITY at OAKLAND
January 4, 1970

On the day the American Football League played the final game of its 10-year history, the Kansas City Chiefs became the only three-time AFL champion. The Chiefs, through a curious playoff system, played their Western Division rivals, the Oakland Raiders, for the league's last title. Oakland, which had won the AFL West and held a pair of regular season wins over the Chiefs, went down to a 17-7 defeat, the first of several AFL/AFC title game defeats that have bedeviled the Raiders during the past decade.

Ironically, Kansas City's win in the Oakland Coliseum was its last to date. And the Raiders have fared little better in the confines of Municipal and then Arrowhead Stadium.

The contest, unlike other Raiders-Chiefs matchups, was marked by turnovers. The two clubs managed one first-half touchdown apiece, Oakland's on a three-yard run by Charlie Smith, Kansas City responding with a one-yard plunge by Wendell Hayes after Len Dawson had hit on passes of 14 yards to Otis Taylor and 41 yards to Frank Pitts.

In the third quarter, George Blanda twice missed field goal attempts that would have moved Oakland in front. Midway through the period, Kansas City mounted a drive from its own 2-yard line, the field position a result of a fumble which luckily was recovered before it bounded into the end zone. Dawson and Taylor pulled Kansas City out of the hole with a 35-yard pass and run play. Robert Holmes added 23 more on a flare pass in the left flat and then scored the go-ahead touchdown five plays later.

At this point, the game became a defensive struggle. Led by defensive charges from the entire front four of Aaron Brown, Buck Buchanan, Curley Culp and Jerry Mays, the Chiefs continually harassed Raiders quarterback Daryle Lamonica. But the turnovers which would plague both teams were only beginning.

In the fourth quarter, turnovers gave Oakland the football three times in Kansas City territory. Three times the Chiefs responded with interceptions, one each by Jim Marsalis, Jim Kearney and Emmitt Thomas. Thomas's steal was his second of the day and covered 62 yards to the Oakland 18-yard line. Jan Stenerud's field goal provided a 17-7 lead and a return to the Super Bowl.

SUPER BOWL IV
KANSAS CITY vs MINNESOTA
January 11, 1970

Kansas City's finest sports hour concluded at 5:20 in the afternoon of Sunday, January 11, 1970, when the Chiefs defeated the Minnesota Vikings, 23-7, for the world championship of pro football.

The Chiefs, who finished 11-3 on the season and defeated the New York Jets and Oakland in the playoffs, closed out their first decade as the outstanding team in the American Football League which, with Super Bowl IV, came to an end. Beginning in 1970, the two leagues merged, with the AFL becoming the American Football Conference of the NFL.

Minnesota, a prohibitive favorite, was 12-2 during the regular season and at one point had won 12 games in succession.

The Chiefs took an early lead when Jan Stenerud kicked a 48-yard first quarter field goal. Stenerud's kick remains a Super Bowl record. He then followed with field goals of 32 and 25 yards for a 9-0 lead.

Kansas City received the first break in the game when the Vikings Charlie West fumbled a kickoff and Remi Prudhomme recovered at the Minnesota 19-yard line. After an eight-yard loss, Len Dawson handed off to Wendell Hayes, who rambled for 13 yards up the middle on a draw play. A 10-yard pass to Otis Taylor gave the Chiefs a first down at the 4. Three plays later Mike Garrett burst off-tackle for five yards and a touchdown. The Chiefs held a 16-0 halftime lead, stunning the Vikings and a nationwide television audience.

Minnesota mounted a mild third-quarter comeback when Dave Osborn scored from four yards out to cut the margin to 16-7. But any hopes the Vikings had of getting closer were dashed by Otis Taylor, who lived up to his big-play reputation repeatedly through that season.

Dawson hit Taylor on a short hitch pattern, but when Earsell Mackbee missed the initial tackle, Taylor was loose down the right sideline, highstepping his way to a 46-yard touchdown. After three quarters, the Chiefs again held a 16-point lead.

As was so often the case in 1969, the defense came to the fore. Minnesota had the ball three times in the final period and, as in the Oakland game the previous week, the Chiefs snuffed out all three chances with interceptions. Middle linebacker Willie Lanier picked off a Joe Kapp pass to halt a rally at the Chiefs 34-yard line. Later on, Johnny Robinson, playing with what turned out to be three broken ribs, grabbed another errant Kapp throw. In the game's closing minutes, Emmitt Thomas intercepted his third pass of the playoffs. The Chiefs then ran out the clock to capture the AFL's second consecutive Super Bowl triumph.

The American Football League's 10-year history had come to an end with the Kansas City Chiefs its most successful team. The 1970s would usher in a new era for the Chiefs, an era that would produce noted changes as the club sought to regain its position as world champion.

MACK LEE HILL AWARD

Bob Grupp, who rose from the obscurity of a free agent in training camp to a position on the AFC Pro Bowl squad, was an overwhelming winner of the 14th Mack Lee Hill Award.

When the Chiefs opened summer camp a year ago, Grupp was one of a number of aspiring youngsters trying to make the club. In his case, it was his third attempt at making the NFL. A punter and defensive back at Duke, Grupp had twice been released by the New York Jets. But after a spirited competition throughout camp, Grupp won the Chiefs punting job and wasted no time making his presence felt.

In his first regular season game, Grupp set a club record with 11 punts vs. Baltimore. During the course of the season, he would go on to lead the league in his specialty from the opening week on, would set additional Chiefs marks for longest punt (74 yards) and most total punts (89), and become the first Chief since Jack Rudnay to be voted to the AFC Pro Bowl team.

Grupp averaged 43.6 yards per punt, but perhaps even more significant was the fact the Chiefs led the NFL in net punting average, 37.2. Twenty-three of Grupp's 89 efforts came to rest inside the opponents 20-yard line. A native of Philadelphia, Grupp was named on over two-thirds of the Mack Lee Hill ballots cast by Chiefs veteran players.

Each year since 1966, the Chiefs players have selected a recipient for the Mack Lee Hill Award. It is a tribute to the late Mack Lee Hill, an outstanding running back who played for the Chiefs in 1964 and 1965. He was described as a man who played as much with his heart as he did with his driving legs in the early days of the American Football League.

In memory and tribute to Mack Lee Hill, the award is presented annually at the "101 Banquet" to the Chiefs rookie, who, as the inscription on the trophy reads—"best exemplifies the spirit of the late Mack Lee Hill . . . the man with the giant heart and quiet way." In selecting the recipient, the Chiefs players look for a rookie who has displayed the spirit and attitude of Mack Lee Hill.
